Pilot Path announces new partnership Grupo One Air.

Pilot Path and One Air work together to open doors to the aviation industry for future commercial airline pilots

Pilot Path and One Air have today announced the launch of a partnership which will provide Pilot Path students with the opportunity to complete their CPL, MEP(A), IR(A) and APS-MCC in beautiful Malaga in southern Spain. Located at Malaga International Airport, One Air strive centres on quality flight training with the student at the heart of each program.

Pilot Path are a flight training coordination service bringing together various Approved and Declared Training Organisations to deliver all aspects of the necessary training for commercial flying. Pilot Path offer an alternative modular training route offering the opportunity for those wishing to pursue a career as a commercial airline pilot the opportunity complete their flight training in a high-quality manner with unnecessary frills removed to ensure the most cost-efficient route to flight training.

The Pilot Path management team encompasses aviation experts with proven experience in global airlines and a financial team specialising in credit control within Ireland and Europe. All Pilot Path training programs are overseen directly by commercial pilot mentors meaning students can be confident in their flight training journey.

Commenting on the announcement, Pilot Path Operations Director, Christopher Curtis said:

“We are delighted to announce our partnership with One Air which will help establish even further links between the numerous high-quality flight training schools and institutions in Ireland, Europe and the USA through Pilot Path. One Air will not only provide our students with even more choices and flexibility when it comes to completing their flight training but also the perfect learning environment in sunny Spain for Pilot Path students to gain their wings, all in line with Pilot Paths cost efficient, no frills model. We are confident they will add to our vision at Pilot Path of making flight training accessible to all and allowing those from all different backgrounds to realise and pursue their dreams and potential of becoming a commercial airline pilot”

On behalf of One Air, Cian Wigham said:

“We can’t wait to welcome Pilot Path students to One Air as they embark on their final steps to becoming commercial airline pilots. At One Air, we invest in being at the forefront in terms of facilities and the best aircraft and simulators fleet. When studying the commercial pilot course at our official flight school in Malaga, you will be provided with personalised training and continuous assessments. Our school’s top-quality standards and excellence bring out the best in our students, motivating them to complete their studies with all the possible guarantees and the best possible training.”
