Pilot Path are a flight training coordination service headquartered in Dublin, Ireland and bring together various Approved and Declared Training Organisations to deliver all aspects of the necessary training for commercial flying. Pilot Path offer an alternative managed modular training route offering the opportunity for those wishing to pursue a career as a commercial airline pilot the opportunity complete their flight training in a high-quality manner with unnecessary frills removed to ensure the most cost-efficient route to flight training.

The Pilot Path management team encompasses aviation experts with proven experience in global airlines and a financial team specialising in credit control within Ireland, UK and Europe. All Pilot Path training programs are overseen directly by commercial pilot mentors in Ireland and the UK meaning students can be confident in their flight training journey.

Commenting on the announcement, Pilot Path Operations Director, Christopher Curtis said:

"We are delighted to announce our UK expansion and subsequent partnership with LAC which will help establish even further links between the numerous high-quality flight training schools and institutions in Ireland, Europe, USA and now the United Kingdom through Pilot Path. LAC will open the doors to prospective students across the greater Manchester area and allow the opportunity to train under pilot path's managed modular, and cost-efficient model all while under the tutelage of our commercial mentor pilots. We are so proud to have LAC as one of our first UK partner schools and are confident they will add to our vision at Pilot Path of making flight training accessible to all and allowing those from all different backgrounds to realise and pursue their dreams and potential of becoming a commercial airline pilot"

On behalf of LAC, Kate Reid, LAC Director said:

"We are very much looking forward to welcoming Pilot Path students to LAC as they embark on their first steps to becoming commercial airline pilots. At LAC, we are an enthusiastic team who always embrace the prospect of working with others to help benefit students and ensure they have everything they need to succeed. Pilot Path covers an area where students previously had little guidance and together, we are passionate about flight training and pride ourselves on achieving the highest standards. We aim to cater for everyone's needs, whether it be a new hobby or the start of a flying career, you will know you are in safe hands with LAC and Pilot Path."
